Description

A nice example of a Edwardian inlaid mirror back sideboard. With stunning inlays and marquetry with the main body made of mahogany. Some fine fretwork on the top with nicely turned spindles in between tiered shelving. Bottom outer doors are of curved glass and inside compartments are lined with a blue crushed velvet that has faded with age. There is some scaring to cornice just under top fretwork (see pic) that was probably caused by a naked flame many moons ago. Not as noticeable as photo suggests. Item is collection only from LL29 or please contact seller for possible delivery quote.
