Description

Early 20th Century American Double Sided Whirligig Figure A brilliant example of early 20th Century American folk art. In the form of a hand carved wooden double sided whirligig figure. It would originally have had paddle arm and mounted to a base at one point. With very unusual carved facial features and naïve painted body. In our humble opinion this is a work of art and highly sculptural in its current form. Size of inches approx.: H 16" x W 3.5" x D 3" Completely solid in structure and form, with natural wear, loss of surface detail, the paint has worn away over years of being outside, missing its paddle arms, a lovely example in this form and highly sculptural. The House of Antiques sells authentic decorative objects, we do not refurbish or repair items unless stated or unless completely necessary to the item's stability or longevity. These objects are old so please expect wear and tear as some are over 100 years old and untouched in form.

Internal Ref: American whirligig
