Description

With the rich colour and patination that is only acquired over many years, this Georgian cupboard has been in a Cheshire country house for generations. This colour and patination is beautifully displayed by the shaped fielded panel to the front. The cupboard has brass butterfly hinges, a working lock and key and the interior has decoratively shaped shelves with original green paint. Corner cupboards were a regular feature in the homes of the past and still offer a substantial amount of storage, whilst taking up little space, in the modern home. This cupboard is in untouched condition and is ready to position in its new home. c. 1780 Height: 41" 104 cm Width: 34" 86 cm Depth: 24.75" 63 cm
