Description

A Waring and Gillow mahogany dining table in 3 sections. The d ends can be used as side tables when not wanted as a full size dining table. The table has brass turning clips to hold together when in use, the legs have Adams style decoration, table edging nicely carved, all standing on spade feet. Quality is good, original polish , some faint marks but not noticeable. All 3 pieces are stamp Waring and Gillow, plus a plaque as shown. This Adams style table is a rare piece of Waring and Gillow furniture. It has been in storage for some years according to the family I purchased it from. the table is 9 feet long and 4 feet wide when d ends fitted. The center table is 5 feet 4 inches by 4 feet . The d ends are 4 feet wide and 1 foot 11 deep. Height is 30 inches. Circa 1910.
