Description

An interesting coloured print of Steam Ship United States after the original painting by Thomas C. Skinner. It is believed that this picture was one of a few hung in offices at the shipping line headquarters. Published by The Mariners Museum Newport News Virginia, this was the flagship of the United States Lines. Built by the Newport News Ship Building and Dry Dock Company in 1952. The picture measures 29 inches x 18 inches and has the original painted wooden frame in blue and cream to inner edge. A sought after item in good overall condition with no stains or real discolouration. A collectible item of interest which would be hard to find another, so do not delay in buying this rarity.
