Description

Excellent George III Writing Bureaux - c1770 An attractive George III Bureau in nice condition. This bureaux sits upon bracket feet and benefits from a four drawer configuration. The upper writing flap opens to reveal a well fitted interior with twin drawers and both large and small cubby holes. Additionally there is a centrally located small locking door. The writing surface is in good order and is refreshingly unleathered. The mahogany grain and colour is displayed well throughout the piece. This is a very good Georgian bureaux that is in nice order throughout. A pleasing piece of functional furniture that looks nice and performs handsomely. The front flap has a slight distortion which results in not shutting utterly flush - we mention this merely for accuracy as it does not affect the piece and adds to the character.
