Description

We are delighted to offer this fabulous antique amethyst & seed pearl necklace made in the Edwardian period c.1905. (Please note, this listing is for the pendant only and does not include the antique belcher chain. We will, however, include a contemporary 9ct solid gold lace so it is ready to wear out of the box). With a ribbon-shaped and tiered design, this pendant not only is a wonderful use of gems but shows off the aesthetic elegance of goldsmithing of the Edwardian era. Distinctly antique and distinguished from contemporary pieces, this pendant is bound to be a delightful addition to any fine jewellery lover and a conversation starter. Embellished with one large central faceted amethyst and a smaller drop below, the purple lustre presents a regal ambience and glistens wonderfully under natural lighting. The contrasting seed pearls are an additional delight, wonderfully blending with the gold setting and accenting the edges. Amethyst is known to be the birthstone of February and pearls for June. A splendid gift to a lucky individual or as an indulgent treat for oneself. Classically elegant and ideal for the discerning jewellery and antique lover. ...
