Description

A Charles I joined oak stool. The top with moulded edge and gouge cut ends, scratch moulded rails, splayed columnar-turned legs, joined all round by plain stretchers. This bench has the rare feature of having less overhang at one end, indicating it would have been one of a pair to go alongside a Refectory table. Top dimensions 162cm x 27cm. Good original condition with a few losses and some extra metal straps.
