Description

This is an incredibly comfy late Victorian deep seated country house armchair that we have decided to upholster in a deconstructed manner to show the quality of the frame as well as the quality of our workshops skills. We have then opted to upholster the feather cushion in a boucle fabric which works with the hessian perfectly and gives the seat a finished feel. Great quality overall and looks like a real statement piece. We can of course upholster still if you prefer. The front legs have been replaced with with solid timber turned examples.
