Description

William Denune 1715-1750 Portrait of Richard Oswald (1705 – 1784) Merchant, Slave trader, Government adviser & British peace commissioner inscribed signed and dated on the reverse " Richd Oswald Esq / of Scotstoun / De Nune Pinxit 1747" oil on canvas 76.20 x 63.50 cm. Provenance By Direct family descent ? In 1751, Alexander (1694-1766) and Richard Oswald (1687-1763), merchants in Glasgow and slave traders, bought Scotstoun, an estate of 1,000 acres. It included the lands of Balshagray to the west of Partick, stretching from the River Clyde to Great Western Road. The Scotstoun estate contained about 1,000 acres and stretched from the River Clyde to Great Western Road. It included not only the districts which we now know as Scotstoun and Whiteinch, but also Claythorn (Whittingehame Drive area) and lands around the former Knightswood Hospital. In fact by the late 1800's the estate belonging to the Smiths of Jordanhill was almost surrounded by Oswald lands. In earlier times the Jordanhill Estate had included parts of Scotstoun and Gartnavel but they had been sold off to the Oswalds. Scotstoun Estate had, in the distant past, belonged to the house of Montgomeri...
