Description

A very unique wall clock with hammered copper case and dial, which is now converted to a quartz movement (originally electric). The red numeral indices look like they have been fire enameled, and the traditional 'tavern clock' shape adds to this particularly interesting and attractive timepiece. We imagine was produced somewhere between 1940 and 1950. Would love to know the artist who made this. We have searched for a makers mark but cannot find one. This is the only one we have ever seen!
