Description

A fine bracket clock produced by this famous partnership. The eight day duration, 7 pillar, triple gut fusee, quarter chiming movement with detached pendulum verge escapement. Also having rise-and-fall regulation, strike/silent, pull quarter repeating on a top-mounted nest of 6 graduated bells, a further larger bell for the hours, blued steel screws throughout and a fully and beautifully engraved backplate, backcock, fixing brackets and pendulum holdfast with a floral design around a large cartouche area to the backplate that reads - Benj.n Gray Just. Vulliamy Watchmakers to his MAJESTY LONDON The 7" wide x 9 1/2" high, break-arch brass and enamel dial has first-period cast brass corner spandrels, a circular white enamel main dial with outer, Arabic 5's, minute track, inner Roman hour numerals and a further circle. The arch has two further subsidiary enamel dials the left of which is for the rise-and-fall regulation setting and the right of which is for the strike/silent selection. There is engraving to the lower arch portion and the top, between the dials carried the maker's cartouche. All four blued steel hands are well-executed. The well-figured mahogany case is of ...
