Description

This is a fine substantial antique French silver plated Duck Press, late 19th Century in date. The duck press has decorative embossed decoration, with ducks, etc, and stands on four substantial legs fashioned as webbed duck feet. It is mounted on a shaped solid oak base and is fitted with a removable pot with strainer and fitted with a spout. The press is a flat disk driven by a turn screw via a wheel at the top. The duck press was invented in France during the 1800's by a Chef called Mechenet to make "Caneton de Rouen a' la Presse". It became a signature dish in Paris and was made table-side in front of the guests. This rare culinary item will turn your dining experience into a Michelin starred occasion. Condition: In excellent condition having been beautifully cleaned in our workshops, please see photos for confirmation.
