Description

A good quality nine-carat gold antique gate bracelet with decorative scrollwork and a heart shaped padlock clasp. A timeless classic piece of jewellery. Believed to date from 1910-20, the design perfectly reflects the dainty Edwardian era which came before and the geometric motifs of the Art Deco period to follow. Rendered in pure nine carat gold of a slightly rosy colour. Marked 9C CDB on the reverse of the padlock and on the side of the bracelet. Overall the bracelet is in very good antique condition with typical light surface wear. Some of the long straight links are slightly bent out of true but this is not very noticeable when the bracelet is worn. There is a small dent on the back of the padlock. The padlock clicks shut and opens as it should, with a fine safety chain for additional security. Length: Just over seven and a half inches (19.5cm). Width: 1.3cm. Padlock size: Approx 2 x 1.3cm. Weight: 18.8g.
