Description

A large Victorian pine dresser base dating from the late 19th Century. It has three drawers above two cupboard doors which open to a shelved interior. The drawers have turned wooden knobs which match the knobs on the cupboards and each cupboard has a metal latch to keep it closed. The interior of the drawers and cupboards have been painted blue at some point in its life. It is a good quality piece with a thick planked top and it stands on a plinth base. It is in good condition for its age and is strong and sturdy. There are lots of signs of age and use which has created a wonderful aged patina but there are no major damages. There have been some old repairs over the years but nothing untoward. It has suffered extensively with worm in the past but we are satisfied it is historic and it has been treated as a precaution. It hasn't affected the piece structurally and it still displays well. It has been cleaned and given a gentle wax and polish and is ready for use.
