Description

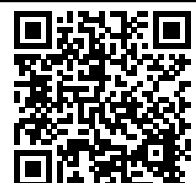

A beautiful and unusual antique Edwardian period side table in mahogany. This has a very strong oriental influence, it was made in England and dates from around 1900-1910. This is finely constructed and very elegant, with beautiful pierced fretwork and lovely upturned edges on the top. There are three useful lower tiers, this is finished nicely on both sides so can be used as a free standing item. We have recently had this re-polished, it is in excellent condition for its age.
