Description

Hi I have for sale a 1960s walnut Comitti wall clock in very good original condition for the age from the original owner's estate with the full Westminster chime, this clock cost a king's ransom when new and just serviced so running 100%. The Case The case is in solid walnut and stands 70cm high x 25cm wide with a depth of 15cm it is in very good original condition well looked after been well waxed for many years. The Dial The dial is in original good condition with a white dial with the Roman numerals, with the original ornate hands which are original to this very old clock, and is signed by Comitti London. The dial is housed in a glazed opening front door. The Movement The movement is an eight-day time and strike which strikes all quarters and full Westminster on the hour followed by each hour strike, this movement keeps spot on time over eight days. Overall a very beautiful wall clock quite rare in this original condition that looks great on display keeping a great time and looking even better.
