Description

Probably dating to the early 19th Century if not a little earlier, this carved wood and papier mache period santo figure was once in the famous collection of Pietro Vitali. The polychromed model is in full length, standing on a turned wooden base. As with most of these early religious figures it shows a wonderfully worn condition and patina. The back of the head has damage and you can see the original filling made of twine and plaster. A highly decorative piece and a genuine Italian antique. Please note the stand is not included. 85cm tall
