Description

A lovely snake ring from the early 20th Century, c1920s. The ring is made from sterling silver, marked as such on the inside of the shank. It has been made in the shape of a coiled snake with a lovely, gentle head and a curled around tail. The snake has plenty of personality and the ring would have originally been gilded. This has worn over time and the ring is predominantly silver with hints of gold throughout. Such a lovely example.
