Description

Summary: • Item: Georgian Butlers Serving Tray • Circa: 1820 • Period: George IV • Provenance: England • Wood: Solid mahogany • Single plank tray (sign of quality) • Over-sized design • Shaped side carrying handles • Side loading • Original webbing to hinged stand • Folding ring turned legs on stand • Original polish & patination • Stunning quality • Free delivery to England, Wales & southern Scotland* • Free 14-day UK returns policy This is a good quality antique Georgian butlers serving tray, constructed of mahogany, on a bar-shaped stand, circa 1820, in good original condition. This type of tray was used both on grand tours and campaigns, but also in wealthy houses for serving drinks. It features a good quality large side-loading tray, with shaped side carrying handles. Constructed with fine quality mahogany with a dovetail construction, it is reasonably heavy (a sign of quality) with an original stunning colour & patination. The original cabinetmakers' label remains but the ink is work, so we don't know who the maker was. The base of the Georgian butlers serving tray is constructed from a single mahogany plank (another sign of quality). The tray is supported ...
