Description

A great example of an original Naval fire bucket dating from the mid to late 19th Century. It is made from teak with brass bands and it has its original leather bound rope handle. It has a very nice polychrome royal coat of arms applied to the front of the bucket. It is in excellent condition for its age. It has a wonderful patina with signs of age and use but no major damages. There are some small marks and knocks and minor wear to the leather handle and some wear to the coat of arms but nothing detrimental and it displays well. Approximate Measurements: Height : 12" (30cm) Top Diameter : 12" (30cm) The best description comes from the photographs so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions just ask.
